

British Guild of Agricultural Journalists

2019 Netherthorpe Award

A special Award to members of the Guild in recognition of an outstanding and sustained contribution to agricultural communications

NOMINATIONS DEADLINE – Friday, 13 September 2019

This award is made annually to the Guild member who has made an outstanding and sustained contribution to agricultural communications.

It is judged from nominations made by members of the Guild.

Judges are looking for a winner who has contributed to the dissemination of knowledge and understanding about agriculture in its widest sense, over a number of years.

This can have been by the written word or through editing, by production or presentation on radio and television. The award is open to press and public relations members of the Guild, as well as journalists, editors and photographers.

To see a list of previous recipients – and why they won – please visit the Netherthorpe Award page of the Guild's website here.

NOMINATION FORM

I wish to nominate:

My name:

My reasons for this nomination are (continue on a second page if needed):

Send completed forms to Guild deputy awards secretary Olivia Midgley at olivia.midgley@agribriefing.com by Friday, 13 September 2019.

All nominations will be acknowledged.